

Clarity Voice Mail

Voice mail to email

To enable this system the call has to be passed through the Clarity phone system. There are several ways to do this.

Inbound calls

- If you use the number that clarity gave you to receive calls, and forward the calls onto your mobile and various landlines then the call will pass through the Clarity phone system and if unanswered to Voice mail.
- Alternatively you can divert your phone, or mobile by using the call divert function to the clarity number which will then go to voice mail if the call is unanswered.

If you set the system to ring your mobile as one of your follow me numbers you can set the system to ignore your mobile phone voice mail (by enabling the confirm button on the system). This allows you to manage your voice mail into one central location where you have a record of it.

You can also access your voice mail by dialling into the voice mail services. If you dial with an authorised phone the system will recognise your number and pass you to your voice mail. If you dial from an unregistered phone the system will ask you for a password.
